

August 28, 2026

RE: Business Development Representative, Amazon Key — Amazon Canada

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am applying for the Business Development Representative, Amazon Key position, Job ID 10517058, in Toronto. I completed a Master of Business Analytics at Edith Cowan University in Australia and now live in Toronto. My strongest relevant foundation combines customer communication, requirements clarification, market and customer analysis, performance reporting, and structured recommendations. Amazon Key's need to connect customer access challenges with a secure technology solution is especially compelling to me.

At AYLA Solutions in Australia, I gathered and documented business and reporting requirements, supported SQL-based extraction and validation, prepared advanced Excel reports, and contributed performance insights. Agile planning and reviews strengthened my ability to clarify needs, coordinate work, communicate progress, and maintain usable documentation. Those skills are relevant to customer discovery, solution requirements, internal handoffs, and data-informed account conversations.

My customer-focused projects show how I translate data into recommendations. In a Bank of Baroda analysis, I used Excel and SQL to study transaction patterns and presented customer-engagement and service-delivery recommendations. My E-Commerce Sales Analytics project examined customer spend, order frequency, product rankings, revenue, and payment behaviour and includes published AI-assisted recommendations grounded in validated SQL outputs. Online GST Filing Adoption Research further developed my ability to identify adoption patterns and barriers through survey and Excel analysis.

At Trans Globe Education, I supported client communication, coordinated process updates with students and institutions, maintained records, and contributed market research and reporting. At Arihant Investment, I supported clients and daily operations while handling confidential information accurately. These roles developed patience, professional follow-up, and the discipline to understand a request before acting.

I recognize that Amazon lists three or more years of business development and agreement-negotiation experience, plus CRM and sales-pipeline ownership, as basic qualifications. My verified background does not yet include those responsibilities, end-to-end sales-cycle ownership, Salesforce, or access-control technology. I am therefore applying as a high-learning-potential candidate whose direct strengths are customer support, analytical depth, requirements thinking, and evidence-based recommendations. I would bring precise preparation, curiosity, and honest communication while learning the commercial and technical context.

Thank you for considering my application. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss whether my analytical and customer-support foundation could contribute to Amazon Key's growth and customer experience.

Best regards,
Jainali Mehta