RE: Banking Advisor - Entry Level, National Bank of Canada

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am applying for the Banking Advisor - Entry Level opportunity with National Bank of Canada. A National Bank employee who knows me personally is forwarding my application directly for your consideration. I completed a Master of Business Analytics at Edith Cowan University in Australia and now live in Toronto. I am seeking my first Canadian banking position and offer a verified foundation in client communication, accurate and confidential records, process coordination, financial and customer analysis, and structured learning.

At Trans Globe Education in India, I managed client documentation and records while coordinating application and process updates with students and institutions. The role developed my ability to communicate clearly, organize information, provide reliable follow-through, and respect the details of each client's situation. Earlier, as an Administrative Executive at Arihant Investment in India, I supported daily operations and client communication while maintaining accurate, confidential business data. Those responsibilities taught me that dependable service begins with careful listening, discretion, and accurate records.

My more recent experience demonstrates how I learn new systems and turn questions into reliable information. As a Data Intern at AYLA Solutions in Australia, I gathered and documented business and reporting requirements, supported SQL extraction and validation, prepared advanced Excel reports, and contributed performance insights. Participating in Agile planning and reviews helped me ask more precise questions, communicate progress, incorporate feedback, and document work for others to review.

I have also explored financial and customer behaviour through applied analysis. In a Bank of Baroda project, I used Excel and SQL to clean customer transaction data, identify patterns and trends, and present recommendations for customer engagement and service delivery. My NISM Series XII Securities Markets Foundation credential adds introductory securities-market knowledge. I would bring that curiosity and analytical discipline to learning National Bank's products, systems, service standards, and required procedures.

I understand that I am entering banking at the beginning of the career path, and I see that as a strength: I am ready to learn the role correctly, seek guidance when needed, and build trust through consistent service rather than overstate what I know. I would welcome a conversation about how my client-support background, discretion, digital literacy, and learning agility could contribute to your team as an entry-level Banking Advisor.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I look forward to discussing how I could contribute to your team.

Best regards,
Jainali Mehta
